

REDDAM EARLY LEARNING SCHOOL

STRONG FOUNDATIONS

Graeme Crawford, founder of REDDAM is a renowned educator who believed that much more could be done to improve educational standards.

Driven by his own negative schooling experiences, he began conceiving a school that could provide a rounded education through a dynamic new approach. This was aimed at maximising not just the academic standard, but also the confidence, potential and individuality of each child. Graeme opened his first school in 1993. In the following five years the Crawford Schools grew to 21 in total.

In 2000, he founded Reddam House and in 2007 Reddam ELS was born in Sydney, Australia.

A TESTED PHILOSOPHY

Seeing children as strong and competent individuals is at the heart of our philosophy. Our programme is designed to develop confidence in an environment that is purposefully designed to enhance learning and development.

We are renowned for our excellent teachers that are chosen for their passion for children and education. They provoke occasions of discovery through inspired listening.

We encourage children to express their thoughts through visual media and parents are invited to be part of their child's learning journey. Our curriculum is driven by the child ensuring a greater level of interest and learning by the child.
